GREAT LAKES AND MISSISSIPPI RIVER INTERBASIN STUDY

AQUATIC NUISANCE SPECIES | ECOSYSTEMS | NAVIGATION | RECREATION | FLOOD RISK MANAGEMENT | WATER USE

Great Lakes and Mississippi River Interbasin Study (GLMRIS)

Public Scoping Meeting | 12:00 – 7:00 p.m.

Comment Form

Welcome to this evening's public scoping meeting. The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers (USACE) is seeking input related to GLMRIS from stakeholders, tribes and members of the public throughout the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) scoping period. The comment period for NEPA scoping will close on March 31, 2011.

GLMRIS will explore options and technologies, collectively known as aquatic nuisance species (ANS) controls, that could be applied to prevent ANS transfer between the basins through aquatic pathways. Using input obtained during the scoping period, USACE will refine GLMRIS to focus on significant issues, as well as eliminate issues that are not significant from further detailed study. Use the following space to comment on issues that you consider significant or not significant to GLMRIS. Prepared Documents can also be attached to this form.

The public scoping comment period will run through March 31, 2011 and includes several public scoping meetings. Please visit www.glmris.anl.gov for more information.

You may submit your comment during or following this public scoping meeting by any of the following:

Act Now —

Study as you go - four years from now will be too late — None of this is a waste of taxpayer money but four years from now will only continue an expenditure in a futile effort —
