In chat rooms and media comment sections, many people have said put a bounty on them. This would be a short term control, but I submit. If you put a bounty on juvenile pounds of Asian carp say 10 inches or less. 10 pounds of 3 inchers is many. 10 pounds of adult is one! Numbers of fish taken out, is more effective reduction, than pounds. $1. dollar a pound for juveniles, would be cheaper than the 16 cents a pound for commercial fishing adults, and take many more asian carp out of the system, with the same amount of effort, or less. People could get invloved with just a seine, or cast net, many hands make light work. I still advocate restoration of native predators, as long term control.
