I urge the GLMRIS Team to recommend and implement a permanent solution for prevention of Asian carp and other invasive species to spread into the Great lakes by hydrological separation of the Great Lakes and the Mississippi River. The future health of the Great Lakes fisheries should be paramount in decisions on these matters.

Hydrological separation will also protect the Mississippi River basin from invasive species brought into the Great Lakes by global shipping in the future.

Thank you for asking for input. I am a concerned U.S. citizen.
