As closing/reversing the waterflow into the Great Lakes is an enormous task we should simple kill, in whatever manner available, the Asian carp in the river system(s). If other river fish are killed, so be it ... I have never heard or seen anything written about either sport or sustenance fishing in these rivers. If all we do is study the problem who is going to restore the Great Lakes fishery including trout, salmon, walleye, perch, etc. ??

Do something now !
