Just a short note in support of your study

We are very concerned about the impact that the Asian Carp could have on our region if allowed to invade the Great Lakes. This non-native species is a great danger to our state economically - I believe it would deter visitors. It also could impact the safety of many recreational boaters who live in Michigan, surrounding states and Ontario.

I hope your study will provide compelling rationale for swift and effective preventative measures to be taken to prevent the spread of this species into the Great Lakes.
