To Whom it may concern,

It is imperative to keep the Asian Carp from invading the Great Lakes. The Carp are an invasive species that will reek havoc and cause destruction of our native fish and their habitats. Michigan and the surrounding states treasure our lakes and all its inhabitants for the food, outdoor family entertainment, and business opportunities they allow us to have. It is far easier, will cost substantially less and is more practical to prevent the Asian Carp from entering the Great Lakes than it will be to eliminate them once they invade the lakes. I implore you to use all means necessary to keep the Asian Carp OUT of the Great Lakes. Sincerely, Joan Nowak
