Dear Representative of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers,

I am writing to tell you that I support an urgent completion of the GLMRIS that primarily addresses the Chicago Waterway System for the safety of the Great Lakes from Asian Carp.

In this process, I ask you to only study means of preventing the movement of invasive species, and not waste time and resources studying ways to merely "reduce the risk" of such a occurrence. Only options that will prevent the movement of invasive species should be studied.

Next, I ask you to acknowledge the urgency of finding a permanent solution for the Asian Carp. I hope that you'll make the Chicago Waterway System a priority, condense the timeline, and produce final results for the Chicago portion of GLMRIS within 18 months.

Thank you for taking these suggestions into consideration and making the health and vitality of the Asian Carp-free Great Lakes a top priority.

Sincerely,
