The Alcona Conservation District strongly urges the Army Corps of Engineers to affect a permanent ecological separation between the Great Lakes and the Mississippi River Basin, which we believe is ultimately the only solution that will truly safeguard our waters and stop the invasion of the Great Lakes by Asian carp.

The Great Lakes are part of our way of life in Michigan, and the Asian carp and other invasive species pose a serious threat to our waters and our economy.

It is our hope that the Army Corps hears how important this issue is to Michigan's lakes, and that they move quickly to prevent a potentially catastrophic event.
