I would like to take this opportunity to help persuade those in the decision making process to please exert every immediate effort and resource to shutting the canalway that connects the Lake Michigan waterway to the Mississippi. This invasive species of carp has already ruined the ecosystem of the mississippi river basin, an area where I currently reside, and I would appalled if bureacracy and coperate interests were put above the preservation of one of our most treasured natural resources, the Great Lakes Waterways. I grew up in Michigan and lived in and around its coats for the first 25 years of my life, I have grown up an avid fisherman, and I hope those in charge would do their best to ensure that future generations of the chance to experience the lakes and their very diverse fishing opportunities as I did.
