Everyone knows the Asian carp are in the Missouri and Mississippi Rivers. Unfortunately, I'm now seeing them in the Meramec River in Missouri. I've had them land in my boat, break rods, and hit me and my passengers. It's just a matter of time when deaths will occur due to being knowed out of the boat. I stopped taking my dad to the Missouri River for fear of him being injured. I would think that competition with native fishes can't be good.
