For any agency to need the length of time to do a study such as the United States Army Corps of Engineers is proposing is preposterous. They are either inept or unqualified to do any study on something so serious that impacts so many lives. All persons in charge should be fired and prevented from ever holding a position of responsibility again. Get real. They have been dragging their feet for too long and their arguments for the required length of the study prove it. For every month they delay action they allow a worst case scenario to develop. Fire them or remove them from the process. This is nothing more than government bureaucracy enamored by stupidity.
