The Corps was mandated to study ways to “prevent” invasive species movement between the Great Lakes and Mississippi River. Only options that will “prevent” invasive species movement and stop the Asian carp should be studied, and in a timely manner. The Corps study takes too long. The Chicago portion of the study is not predicted to be complete until mid-2015, nearly five years from now. The Corps should acknowledge the urgency of finding a permanent solution, condense the timeline and produce final results for the Chicago portion of GLMRIS within 18 months rather than mid-2015.
