We don't want Asian Carp in our Great Lakes. The worldwide demand for fish is high and growing. I say promote the carp fishing industry. Export the fish to markets where there is demand for them, and work on creating demand in the U.S. But because the carp are invasive, we SHOULD NOT actively culture fisheries. If we eliminate the carp by fishing them out and make some money in the process, I consider it a success.

Also, Chicago should shut down its locks so that the carp stay out of the Great Lakes.
